

PART-1

The Umbrella

Intro:

Pretty much nothing new today. People (Magicians and sorcerers) are still prisoned. The master of the rainbow umbrella is still the master of the rainbow ruling the parallel worlds. But his greed grew. He decided to destroy the third peaceful world of technology is the earth. First, let me explain to you the legend of the master of the rainbow umbrella.

The legend of the master of Rainbow Umbrella

He was a parallel world navigator of the sorcerer's world. He was one of the protectors of the Power of the most auspicious source of energy for sorcerers. He learnt different postures to control the 7 main powers which together form the rainbow power, yet it is only created when all seven agree on it. Then, he went to the world of magicians. But unfortunately they were underdeveloped. This actually made them weaklings against socecors. The supremacy of this master - Jo. His origin was rinknown. (None knows how he was born or what his name means. So people call him 'jo', he was very young at this age).

So, he was super powerful and attacked the magicians. He then ordered the making of the world's most powerful wand. They did as they were trapped. Then he went to the sorcerer's world and used his power to combine the rainbow power's guardians. For that, he defeated them with wand magic as an offensive weapon and sorcerer's magic as a defensive weapon. So, he was very able to defeat them. He took their power and let all the power into a poor old yet a great 'umbrella'. The second he gained power. He ruled the two parallel worlds but he was afraid to go to earth, as they were developed as compared to the sorcerers. The sorcerers though powerful, can't resist things that destroy much or come fast enough to defeat them. So he must wait until he gains power from everyone of the sorcerers. As the magicians and sorcerers share the same enemy, they made the combined force. Thus began the battle of fury. He was using his umbrella, like a defensive weapon and wand as an offensive weapon . The attack started off with kill spell - The most powerful of all followed by meteor sent by the guardians of rainbow energy who were recovered " He took all the power of spells and used them on meteors and then took the broken all of the rocks, combined them and then used the Green of rainbow power & created a Leaf storm along with Purple of the rainbow power: Asphalt flare, which pushed the meteors and spinned them towards the magicians. The socecors used their attack namely Band - Push to stop the meteor. It stopped but not so easy said he and the switched umbrella to offensive and released the power of aura shock by spinning it fast. This was the ultimate power of the rainbow. The sorcerers and magicians combinely surrounded themselves with domes of guard. Nah! said J, then he ended the war by sniping them with the wand. The wand has this special attack called snipe which kills the people without any connection between him/her to the wand. This attack was specially brewed by him. It is so powerful that it uses up 1/12th of the energy in the source. The second battle retreat happened. This time J's wand was dis-armed and now he started weakening. He was badly injured. But he was invincible, he can't die but injuries happen and if people stole the umbrella at this moment, he dies. So, he decided to send 15 equal powered minions which are as powerful as the rainbow protectors. It was a terrible battle, the magicians got targeted and were out-numbered; this made the socecors give up and the legend ends. He was practicing to conquer the earth.

Meanwhile ...

Earth - The third parallel word

“Hey”, said someone who had greeted a person in front of him. Then, a pick pocketer came to that person and stole his purseHe was a good parkour escaper, I guess... as he jumps on to the nearest building and escapes from the police. This thief is responsible for destroying the umbrella and returning it to the sorcerers. He was just a normal thief and he likes valuables. For a Thief like him evil joins his back. And yes, that is what happened. That thief : Hans got upgraded to Kon artist. He learnt spy tricks and was an incredibly flexible guy who knew aggressive offense and Hacker: John joined his back as his trusted sidekick and later as a teammate Finally a hypnotiser joined their team and made a trio of KON artists. Yeah, our hacker is a true ethical hacker converted into a KON artist. These three fellas had a special strategy they make lottery websites for attraction and steal their money As the entry fees are high only rich people will come but some bad things happened to this strat :- rich people became greedy and didn't spend, poor came to check their luck and our kon fella's income was reduced. Now, they're looking for a new strat. Our hacker was browsing google for something or anything. He needs an eye-attracting mission which is worth a risk. He was very much excited to see the database which tells about the location of an army station just for selling it to someone. Then, thought of making a legal thing to erase his little mistakes that may be someone unfortunately witnessed but not sure about the crime. He decided to make a password that is used to store some very private info of banks for that he encrypted a normal password by using the ASCII codes of the password and then added this code to a 13 digit number code and shifted the last number to middle and First number last and middle number to first with which made the most confusion 26 digit password logic, all random. He noted that and showed the new password to the govt but they didn't agree, instead they told him to seize all the data in a place where they can only access, instead of upgrading the password. They thought that using this idea will keep the data safe. He was obsessed with the government. Though he doesn't like good things, he has to do this or else they may be in trouble... He found the new database that stores a lot of data in a physically accessible place or source :- the app of data, this thing stores data in a private API and to access it we need the 26 -digit password he created before. Govt. trusted him and now though his new strat is bad or can be deadly, the fame he had can be a barrier. Meanwhile our spy does his thing, Killing a person and stealing his 1,450,000 worth diamond which is some fund he needs and a you know, if we stedd, police come to action. The police started shooting bullets as a professional parkour escaper jumped onto the terrace and ran to his safe place. There our hacker and Hypnotiser met him and they started:

-----Conversation-----

Hans (Spy): We need funding, I didn't have a spy jacket to Keeping my identity secret is a grappling hook for easy. escape or even binoculars to see my enemies without the fear of being caught by them No pocket drone nor a spy camera with microphone.

John (Hacker) :That is not it I need a better laptop, at least macbook with a better RAM like 16 GB or something... I need a lot of accessories like a wireless and less noisy keyboard. Something like an eye protecting shield for a lot of work. My eyes are also important to me.

Carl (Hypno):- Well, well, well... I am not sure about you,My situation is even worse. I don't even have a hypnotising watch or a book about hypnotising to improve my skills.

Hans:- What about your last one, Ha?

Carl:-It is gone, as one fella stepped on it when it accidentally slipped from my pocket.

John:-You are the reckless one Here.

Hans:- Enough!!! Lemme show you the diamond I stole, we can make it into money and get what we need

Carl:- Jacket - 1000

Grappling back - 10,000 which is best in quality

Binoculars - 5,000

Good Pocket drone - 50,000 Very useful to us and has many features in it. 60 cm.sq is its area and Very small guy. Controlled by voice instruction or gestures.

Spy cam - 5,000 & useful as small as 10 cm and mic is 10 cm.sq. Totally tiny one useful guy of course.

Laptop - 300,000 One shot all done

Screen protection - 500, Just UV radiation stopping transparent glass.

Keyboard - 5,000 ? enough to be good

As of Mine, My watch worth - 5,000 & after all, the remaining money is for daily groceries and stuff

Total money: $16,000 + 50,000 + 315,000 = 384,000$

I guess the remaining money can be useful for building a safe place or bunker for you.

John - I guess you can take care of financial matters.

Hans - Not enough money John, from you I am expecting 15 lakh and from you Carl, despite handing money, you need to make money.

Carl - Ok, John and Me will work together for a rather big mission

John - But I got 15 lakh as a reward from the government. So, it is your Job, carl.

Hans - Carl, You need to do this on your own, First I will give you the watch you need and then it is up to you only.

Carl- Okay! Meeting Done!

Carl was sad for his inability to get money on his own. So, he decided to get the money from the richest persons. He took the hacker's laptop, browsed for rich people and All went well of course he got the money. That day was horrible due to a misunderstanding that he was a spy for the government. He was then abandoned by his friends as he was browsing in the hacker's laptop. Hans framed that for distraction he browsed the google and stole something valuable into it. They used hypnotism on him and made him suffer the disease of short term memory loss but it failed as he was not affected by the disease. Thus, the team of three was now a team of two. Yet, one day, they decided to merge again and it happened like a war between friends. But during this war, a person noticed that Carl was a bad Hypno and makes hypnotising as a source of money. Unluckiness on unluckiness, he was an ethical hacker. He then found proofs or evidence by following those three. Finally, the spy noticed him and chased him but he brought the police force and filed a case against him. Then he went to the Court and won the case with the solid proofs he brought and therefore the trio was imprisoned. All three were in jail now but the Iron Bars of jail can't hold these three for long. The hacker took someone's phone and accessed his laptop via anydesk and of course the anydesk accepted his request as he wrote a program to auto accept it. Finally, this hacker peeped into youtube and social media websites while turning on the camera and Carl hypnotised them. All of them started doing robbery and also surrendering to police. It filled the Jail. The government finally released all of the prisoners except the main ones. As the ethical hacker only caught a small amount of their crimes, they were released. While the government was dealing with the real ones or major ones who escaped. They were forgotten but the Ethical Hacker didn't. He remembered this incident and started hacking the hacker's Laptop itself. The hacker got really annoyed and started to hack his laptop as John (hacker) was more experienced than Eric. He destroyed his laptop. All info in it was lost and he was suspended for 6 months. During this time Eric didn't give up and discovered the story of a hundred thousand dollar diamond. Once again, he gathered solid proof and the government took action. They targeted Hans as the govt came to know that he stole the diamond.

One fine day, while Hans was walking, police started following him. He was surprised and ran to the nearest building and jumped over its terrace and tried to escape but Jeeps started following him. He took his grappling hook and launched it onto the tallest building, He then used the string, climbed on it as high as half of the rope and started spinning around the tower for ignition and then released the rope. He launched this gliding suit and then flew away but Eric didn't give up and sent a helicopter with 10 people. The moment he saw the helicopter he was very much surprised. He decided to break the wing and apply weight on its back and destroy it. John asked if he needed help but he said no. He took his grappling hook and then grabbed the back part of the helicopter. Back weight made that helicopter move backwards but those 10 people started firing at him. He grabbed the drone and launched an electric bolt on the wings. More power applied by the drone led to instability. Instability led to shaking the people and all the 10 guys fell into a lake down below them. The wing was finally destroyed. Hans got his spy drone back and then flew away but this time Eric used 5 fighter planes. Now John the hacker crashed all of them. But here comes an auto-target missile. This time Eric countered John. John made the missile see nothing, then the missile blasted and Hans escaped. This time he got suspended for a much longer period for using military resources without any prior information and also lost them for 0 result. Eric lost several times against those KON artists. His anger boiled. His veins instead of blood, have revenge but nothing. Four times:

- 1) He was cheated by that trio as he bought a lottery ticket
- 2) He failed to collect proofs though he was a witness
- 3) They escaped the jail though they are solid proofs
- 4) Now They destroyed his career and escaped. Eric was neck angry with them but he didn't have a job. So he can't trap them...

Now, he is following them, collecting proofs and writing to trap them after 10 years! What a solid revenge. As the trio is moving forward and climbing stairs of success in their field. They decided to do some very big crime which can change their lives. On the other hand, the govt is waiting to see if they do missile - big crimes and if they do, they will be announced as World wanted criminals or KONs.

Back in the sorcerer's world...

Conversation:

(Narrator. In the sorcerer's world where all the minions are gathered to advise or question Jo, the king as it was an tradition to for them)

Jo: Let the ceremony begin!

Narrator: The king I was now crowned, minions and trusted advisors gathered in the Hall. Now let the discussion begin Announcer: Firstly, I am honoured to be an advisor. I like being an advisor to the Highness. All the people, friends and citizens can now begin to question our Majesty,

Some Random Guy: Sir, it seems like you are powerful but my question to your Highness is, why don't you go and conquer the earth. Thanks for letting me ask this question.

Jo: It is a good question but it seems like you don't know how powerful the earthlings were. If they all come together, they could destroy me. They were developed but you guys aren't. I mean you guys can fight back but they are very powerful in their offense and defense. Not only that... They are intelligent. Let me give an example... As a navigator, I went to the magician's world. There I saw one funny incident. One guy got some kind of broom. They will use this broom to go as it is their tradition. The other didn't and the one who didn't got one told his friend to bring another broom which is upstairs.went all the way up, got another broom and then came back and gave it to him. But an earthling wisely gives his broom to the person who goes out ... So, that literally meant that they were using their brains for everything... They are intelligent. So, it is hard and as of the technology and equipment, they have something called a nuclear bomb... Which is so destructive that it is too hard to escape from it. It is hard but not impossible... It can only be possible if there is a 360 rainbow on earth. This makes my conductor of rainbow source - which is the umbrella - absorb more power, if kept near the rainbow, My umbrella is going to get more defense and the defense is what I lack... As the umbrella could protect only half, it is tough... Though the wand could make a dome... It is fast but not effective enough. My sorcerer Magic is useless ... I can't use - rainbow source and keep it in my wand as both are different types - of magic. The mixture of it could cause nothing but chaos...

Random Guy2: How long will you wait for it, your Majesty

Jo: Not for much time... As I knew the new and effective way, making a 360 rainbow... It is simple! Something called refraction is used to make but, we need a very high moist day. Moist means water which is invisible and in the air. We need to launch in Amazonforest, it has high moisture and of course, some of our helpers who have equipment and scientists.

Random Guy2: Sir, How are you getting this info?